WHERE THE MARKS WENT

Salma recognises the two tenses almost perfectly when the options are in front of her. The marks fall away as soon as she has to produce the form herself, and they fall furthest when she has to explain her thinking.

Question by question

Every mark is traceable to a question, and every lost mark carries the reason it was lost.

Q	WHAT SALMA WROTE		MARK	TEACHER COMMENT
SECTION A · RECOGNISE THE TENSE · DOK 1			7 / 8
1	b) drinks	✓	1 / 1	Correct. “every afternoon” spotted.
2	c) is stopping	✓	1 / 1	Correct. “now” spotted.
3	b) boils	✓	1 / 1	Correct — a fact that stays true.
4	b) is sleeping	✓	1 / 1	Correct. “at the moment” spotted.
5	a) don't go	✓	1 / 1	Correct negative form.
6	c) is wearing	✓	1 / 1	Correct. “today” spotted.
7	a) am knowing	✗	0 / 1	“know” is a state verb — it never takes -ing. The answer is (b) know.
8	c) opens	✓	1 / 1	Correct. “every morning” spotted.
SECTION B1 · COMPLETE THE FORM · DOK 2			4 / 6
9	start	✗	0 / 1	The tense is right but the subject is “the lesson” — it needs starts.
10	is raining	✓	1 / 1	Correct.
11	is carrying	✓	1 / 1	Correct.
12	study	✗	0 / 1	“Omar” is he — the verb needs studies.
13	is helping	✓	1 / 1	Correct.

Q	WHAT SALMA WROTE		MARK	TEACHER COMMENT
14	closes	✓	1 / 1	Correct — and the -s is there this time.
SECTION B2 · FIND AND CORRECT · DOK 2			6 / 8
15	She goes to the market every Saturday.	✓	2 / 2	Error found and corrected. Full marks.
16	Look! The bus is coming now.	✓	2 / 2	Error found and corrected. Full marks.
17	I am know the answer to this question.	±	1 / 2	You found the verb, but “am know” is not a form. Remove the auxiliary: I know.
18	My father watches the news at the moment.	±	1 / 2	You found the verb, but “at the moment” asks for is watching, not the -s form.
SECTION C · CHALLENGE · DOK 3			4 / 8
19	In sentence a Amir plays football. In sentence b Amir is playing football now. The verbs are different because the second one is longer.	✗	1 / 4	You quoted “now”, which is the right clue. Now name the two uses: a routine, and an action happening at this moment. Length is not the reason.
20	1. I always help my mother in the kitchen. 2. Right now I play with my brother.	±	3 / 4	Sentence 1 is fully correct. In sentence 2 you chose the signal word “Right now” but kept the present simple — it must be am playing.

What the pattern says

Four wrong answers out of twenty is not four separate problems. It is three, and each one has a name.

#	THE GAP	EVIDENCE	WHAT THE ANSWERS SHOW
1	The third-person -s is not attached to a trigger	Q9 · Q12 · Q18	Salma knows the rule — she used closes correctly in Q14 — but she applies it by feel rather than by checking the subject. In Q18 she added the -s where the sentence needed the continuous, which is the same gap in the other direction. She can say the rule aloud but cannot yet spot when it applies.
2	State verbs are being treated as action verbs	Q7 · Q17	She met know twice and chose the -ing form both times. This is the only rule on the paper she has not begun to acquire, and it is costing her marks in two different question types. Not yet taught to automaticity — reteach, do not revise.
3	The signal word guides her reading but not her writing	Q19 · Q20	In Section A she found the signal word in all eight sentences. In her own writing she chose “Right now” and then wrote the present simple after it. Recognition is secure; production is not. The DOK 1 to DOK 2 step is where the marks are being lost.

WHAT SALMA DOES WELL — SAY THIS FIRST

She reads for the signal word before she answers, and it works: eight out of eight in Section A, and every present-continuous gap in Section B where the subject was not “he” or “she”. Her corrected sentences in Q15 and Q16 are exactly right, punctuation included. Q20 sentence one is a model answer. The habit that will fix the rest of this paper is already there — it just has not reached her own writing yet.

FEEDBACK TO READ WITH SALMA — THREE SENTENCES, NO JARGON

“You are very good at finding the clue word — you got every single one in Section A. Two things to fix: when the person is he, she or it, the everyday verb needs an -s; and know, like and want never take -ing. Next time, after you write a sentence, read your clue word again and check your verb agrees with it.”

Where this goes next

A marked paper that stops at the score changes nothing. These three gaps now become three documents.

1. Two-week action plan

One target per gap, a ten-minute task a day, and a success criterion the student can check herself. Targets 1 and 2 are reteaching; target 3 is practice.

2. Report to parents

The same three gaps in plain language, with three things the family can do at home in ten minutes an evening. No grades league, no jargon.

3. Recheck on 1 September 2026

A short six-question retest drawn only from the three gaps. If Salma scores 5 or 6, the plan is closed; if not, target 2 is retaught in a small group.
